

TOO TIRED TO SLEEP

ADAM

It's four o'clock in the morning, outside it's silent and dark
But a burning bright red light keeps shining from the pain in my heart
So I get out of bed to stare at a faded photo of you and me
I strain to see through bloodshot eyes, tired of this routine

Cause I toss and turn most every night, can't help but to stay awake
And I'm trying to get over you, but what does it take?

I'm too tired to sleep, all I do is weep
Night after night in my bed
And the nights seem so long, tell me what went wrong with us
I'm too strong to be weak, I'm too tired to sleep

I got so used to spending nights embraced in your loving arms
I got so used to thinking I was always safe from harm
I miss the comfort I always felt with you by my side
Now I've turned into some insomniac, but don't think I haven't tried

Cause I toss and turn most every night, can't help but to stay awake
And I'm trying to get over you, but what does it take?

I'm too tired to sleep, all I do is weep
Night after night in my bed
And the nights seem so long, tell me what went wrong with us
I'm too hungry to eat, I'm too tired to sleep

Although I'm taking every drug
And I'm drinking cappuccino from a two gallon mug

I'm too tired to sleep, all I do is weep
Night after night in my bed
And the nights seem so long, tell me what went wrong with us
It's too quiet to speak...and I'm much too tired to sleep
