

RUN AWAY

ADAM

These days you take every little bit you can get
Cause one day you're gonna lose it all and live on a thread
Well sometimes I feel like I'm on top of the world
And some days you know that all my problems seem to unfurl

Well I know I'm not the easiest guy to understand
And I know that you try to every chance that you can
And you must be sick and tired of putting up with my crap every day

Run away, run away
Cause that's all you know how to do
Just run away
You're gonna run far away

You put on that sexy tight little black dress
You shake it til I lose control, then I'm one big mess
But when I make my move, you stop and the room turns cold
I reach out my arms but there ain't nobody there to hold

Well I know you're not the easiest girl to understand
And you know that I try to every chance that I can
But I'm really sick and tired of putting up with your crap every day

You go out with your boyfriend every seven o'clock Saturday night
By ten you're back at home because you had another really bad fight
One day you're gonna stop and think what you coulda had
And you'll come crawling back to me hopin' maybe I'll take you back.

Well you know I'm not the easiest guy to understand
And I know that you tried to every chance that you can
But you got sick and tired of putting up with my crap every day
